COVID-19 Response

The City of New Albany, like communities across the county, is working to contain the Coronavirus outbreak. Since the beginning of the pandemic the New Albany Police Department has been helping to promote community health and safety while maintaining what one might consider the traditional law enforcement activities. Over the past couple of months the department has focused on being visible in the community, encouraging people to abide by the state’s stay at home order, investigating and preventing criminal activity and acting as problem solvers during this unprecedented time.

The department has worked with courts and prosecutors to limit the number of people currently involved in the judicial system and jails while still protecting the community. The department has also taken numerous steps to limit its’ staffs exposure to the virus by limiting some of its non-essential services, in person roll calls and by providing staff with additional personal protection equipment.

The department has also been working as part of the New Albany COVID-19 Task Force to provide information and videos to the community during this unprecedented time. The community has generally complied with the State’s Stay at Home Orders but the department continues to receive calls regarding those who do not comply. The police department has generally not issued citations to those found to be in violation but is prepared to increase enforcement if necessary.

COVID-19 Donations

The New Albany Police Department would like to thank all of the companies and community members who have donated meals and supplies for our staff members during this time. These donations have helped our staff to protect themselves and ensure their safety while continuing to serve our community. Feazel Roofing, The New Albany Company, Newark Smiles, Benchmark Industrial, KDC/Bath & Body Works, along with multiple New Albany residents all donated to the department this month.

Impaired Driving Simulator

The department introduced its Simulated Impaired Driving Experience (SIDNE) driving simulator and impaired vision goggles to New Albany High School this month. This is a new and innovative learning tool that will be used in the alcohol education block to teach students about the dangers of impaired driving and to experience first-hand what it is like. In the brief time when the simulator system was delivered and the state's stay at home order, the department was able to employ the education simulator with high school students and the impaired goggles for an engineering company whose employees drive daily in their positions.
